Announcement of Temporary Suspension of Operations at the Tokuyama Plant

Zeon Corporation

Zeon Corporation (head office: Chiyoda-ku, Tokyo; President and CEO: Kimiaki Tanaka) has decided to temporarily suspend operations at the Tokuyama Plant following the discovery of a malfunction in its boiler facilities. The suspension is expected to last for approximately 30 days, based on a careful review to confirm readiness to resume operations.

Related business divisions will be responding as appropriate for affected products, and a formal announcement will be released upon the resumption of operations. We deeply regret any inconvenience that this situation may cause and appreciate your patience and understanding as the necessary steps are taken.
