Environmental and Safety Activities

1. Work Safety Initiatives

ZEON Advanced Polymix has been without accident since October 2009. The company is currently focusing on safety activities in an attempt to reach 1,000 consecutive days without accident. In addition, a Safety Week is organized every year with companies from the industrial park, local residents, and local government officials invited to attend alongside employees. Each workplace sets up a booth to explain their ideas on safety and report on safety initiatives.

Contributions to the Local Community

On the second Saturday of every January, National Children's Day, ZEON Advanced Polymix donates items such as stationery to nearby elementary schools. The company also invites members of 20 neighboring households to receive free health examinations alongside employees.

In fiscal 2011, ZEON Advanced Polymix made donations totaling 378,500 bahts to Buddhist temples, schools, hospitals, disaster-hit areas, local government, and others. At the time of the 2011 floods in Thailand, donations were collected from employees and volunteers were dispatched to take part in relief efforts.
