Zeon renews its sustainability website by expanding content focused on ESG-related information

Zeon Corporation

Zeon Corporation (Zeon; head office: Chiyoda-ku, Tokyo; President and CEO: Tetsuya Toyoshima) has renewed its sustainability website, released on January 23, to better convey its initiatives for realizing a “Sustainable Earth” and “Safe and Comfortable Life for People,” as set out in its Sustainability Policy.

Key features of the site renewal

◆ Expansion of content related to ESG information

We expanded our ESG content and reorganized the site structure into sections that explain our basic approach, systems, and main initiatives, making them easier for our diverse stakeholders to understand. We also added more disclosure data to the site, primarily focusing on environmental matters.

◆ Introduction of the SDGs Contribution Product Certification program

In FY2024, the Zeon Group launched this program to certify products with a particularly high level of contribution to addressing social issues as SDGs Contribution Products. The site provides an overview of the program and highlights specific examples of our certified products.

◆ Changes to the structure and layout

We completely renewed the structure and layout to create a site that is easier to view and navigate.

Zeon promotes sustainability management with the aim of addressing social issues while achieving sustainable corporate growth. We will continue to engage in close dialogue with all stakeholders and provide information with a high degree of transparency to foster a deeper understanding of Zeon's medium- to long-term initiatives.
